

FloorScore Certification

At Simba Floors, we are committed to offering flooring solutions that not only look beautiful but also contribute to a healthier indoor environment. That's why many of our products are certified with FloorScore®, one of the most recognized indoor air quality (IAQ) certification standards for flooring materials.

What is FloorScore® Certification?

FloorScore® is a certification developed by the Resilient Floor Covering Institute (RFCI) in collaboration with Scientific Certification Systems (SCS). It evaluates flooring products to ensure they meet strict indoor air quality requirements by testing for volatile organic compounds (VOCs).

Why Choose FloorScore®-Certified Products?

- Healthier Indoor Air: Products with FloorScore® certification emit fewer VOCs, creating a safer and healthier living or working environment.
- Trusted by Professionals: FloorScore®-certified products are widely recognized and often qualify for green building standards such as LEED, WELL, and CHPS.
- Eco-Friendly Solutions: Using certified products supports sustainability and responsible manufacturing practices.

Simba Floors Commitment to Sustainability

We take pride in offering a variety of engineered hardwood flooring products that are FloorScore®-certified. These products are designed to minimize environmental impact while maintaining the highest standards of quality and performance.

Benefits of Simba Floors with FloorScore® Certification

- Improved Indoor Air Quality: Especially important for families, children, and individuals with respiratory concerns.
- Durable and Safe: Our products combine longevity with reduced environmental impact.
- Compliance with Green Building Standards: Helps meet requirements for projects aiming for sustainability certifications.

Look for the FloorScore® Logo

When you see the FloorScore® logo on our products, you can trust that they meet rigorous air quality standards. Look for this certification when choosing the perfect flooring for your home or business.
